DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ferraro. Note that Ferraro shows the claimed V-shaped handle with a flexible cartridge that is pivotally mounted to the handle.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferraro in view of Gillette. Applicant claims a V-shaped handle where the arms make up the handle. Gillette shows such a handle with a cross member. Obviously the handle of Gillette is simple than that of Ferraro since it forgoes the addition of a third handle member. Thus one of ordinary skill in the art would obviously use such a two armed design with the device of Ferraro.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferraro in view of Wexler et al. Applicant adds a gel to the claimed combination with claim 4. Such structure is old as shown by Wexler et al. The advantage is that the gel aids in the shaving process. Obviously an artisan would add such a strip to Ferraro as and for the purpose of Wexler.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferraro in view of Marcarelli. Applicant now claims that the V-shaped arms are bent forward at their tops by an obtuse angle. This angle is shown by Marcarelli. Many other razors use a similar construction to angle the head relative to the gripping portion of the handle. It thus would have been obvious that an artisan would have added such an angle to the upper part of the V-portion of the handle of Ferraro.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferraro in view of Andrews. Plastic is a material that has long been used for Razors. This is confirmed by Andrews. Since the selection of material is a task that is usually left to one of ordinary skill in the art the choice of such a well known material would appear to be obvious a showing of unexpected result.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferraro. Applicant claims textured portions on the cartridge and the handle. Ferraro shows a textured head but not a handle. Texturing handles is notoriously old and would be obvious to use with the handle of Ferraro.

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 3724

Claims 11-12 are allowed. While many of the claimed features are shown in the cited patents combining many of them to meet the material of claim 11 is not felt to be obvious.
